Re: Suggested Daily Routine for Home Learning

Dear Parents and Carers,

It's been lovely to see so many children enjoying ItsLearning this week. The ItsLearning Hub (which can be accessed using your login and password via this link <https://www.sch.im/>) and our website <https://syj.sch.im> has lots for you to enjoy during school closures.

Each week (apart from the holidays) you'll find a new set of activities to get involved with. SyJ teachers will give you regular updates and weekly challenges. We'll be bringing you activities from a range of different sources to help fill your days and offer some much-needed variety.

During this unprecedented time, we will be sharing some resources from Facebook and Youtube which have age restrictions of 13 so we advise that all children are supervised on these platforms.

Please find your own approach to using these resources.

Don't worry about recreating school at home. But if you're looking for ideas, or a way of adding a bit of routine into your day, there are some ideas below but these are just to try and help. Don't worry about sticking to a strict routine we are all feeling our way and trying to establish a simple plan for each day:

- * Try to include child friendly, daily exercise each day in the comfort of your own home
- * Try to look for Positive News every weekday to give a dose of positivity. Newsround may be helpful https://www.bbc.co.uk/newsround/news/watch_newsround
- * Maybe find time to take a break! Music may help you relax and unwind as a family.
- * You might like to take part in some fun maths games and activities to keep your children practising their maths skills. MyMaths, interactive games are available to all SyJ children (log in details are in learning logs).

*Take time to break for lunch! Online you will find ideas for making simple healthy food.

*To help with children reading at home, David Walliams, the kind-hearted author has decided to read a story from one of his huge back catalogue of children's books. He has said, "I'll be releasing an audio story every day for the next 30 days absolutely free."

*The website Twinkl is offering children the chance to learn from our brilliant illustrators with regular easy-to-follow drawing lessons.

We are all here to help, please keep in touch.

Yours Sincerely

Mrs Adamson, Mrs Hicks and Mrs Quilliam
